ON COURSE with Mallory

"The LORD is my strength and my shield."
Psalm 28:7 · KJV (excerpt)

SEASON WRAP

Grateful for 2026.
Ready for what's next.

NOVEMBER 2026

A season of growth, on and off the course.

A NOTE FROM MAL

What a beautiful second season on the ANNIKA WAPT! This year brought growth on and off the course, through the highs, the lows and even a battle with hives. I'm proud of how I've learned to navigate it all.

I wrapped up my season at Stage 2 of LPGA Q-School, just one stroke short of advancing. That shot stings, but I'm walking away proud of my golf, confident in my game and more motivated than ever.

STAGE 1 / DAYTONA BEACH
T9 · 4-under par

STAGE 2 / VENICE
One shot short. Still proud.

2027

MY NEXT CHAPTER

Epson Tour rookie!

I can't wait to see where this game takes me.

BEYOND THE SCORECARD

Friendships for a lifetime

One of this season's biggest blessings has been the friendships I've made. I can't wait to keep growing, chasing our dreams and cheering each other on!

See my season photo album

ONE SKILL / CHIPPING

Pick your landing spot

Place a small towel on the practice green. Chip from just off the green and try to land the ball on it. Focus on a repeatable carry distance, then watch how far the ball rolls.

Try the towel drill · PGA.com

SPONSOR SPOTLIGHT

Wilson-Covington

Thank you to my primary sponsor this year! Founded in 1947 and based in Winston-Salem, Wilson-Covington's work spans commercial and residential construction, historic restoration and property management.

Get to know Wilson-Covington

To everyone who supported, encouraged, prayed for and believed in me: THANK YOU! A special thank-you to my sponsors for helping me chase this dream.

Follow my tournaments and the next chapter: oncoursewithmal.com

Friends photo: @mallory_fobes

A WIN WOVEN INTO HISTORY

Her first win. A lasting legacy.

Celebrating 75 years of the LPGA — and the next generation.

Mallory celebrates her first professional win with Annika Sörenstam.

Photo source: WAPT

THE WOMEN WHO OPENED THE DOOR

In 1950, 13 women founded the LPGA. Among them was Patty Berg, its first president, whose legacy extended far beyond her 60 professional victories and record 15 major titles.

Berg helped introduce the game to new audiences through thousands of golf clinics and exhibitions. Together, the founders created opportunities that future generations of women could build on.

Their determination gives every new chapter in women's golf a deeper meaning: a chance to compete, to belong and to keep the game growing.

MALLORY'S PLACE IN THE STORY

Seventy-five years later, Mallory earned her first professional victory at the 2025 Heritage Classic, the ANNIKA WAPT season finale at Rolling Hills Country Club in Wichita — the birthplace of the LPGA.

She finished at 11-under par (277), closing with a 69. Annika Sörenstam was there to celebrate, bringing a special connection between the game's history and its future.

A first trophy is always memorable. Winning in that place, during that anniversary year, made this one part of something bigger.

Check out Patty Berg's story below!

Inspired by the Patty Berg story shared by Inspiring Stories on Facebook.

Win reporting: Davis Bell / UNCW Athletics Asia Cymone Smith / KSNW

History: LPGA / Patty Berg World Golf Hall of Fame / LPGA Founders